Schools & Educational Institutions

WESSA is one of South Africa's oldest membership-based, non-governmental organisations. For over 90 years we have played a key role in the conservation of our country, working to help ensure sustainability for present and future generations through: environmental action; education programmes; and human capacity development to empower individuals and communities to make sustainable choices. By joining WESSA, your school is making a valuable contribution to the significant role we play in the areas of education and conservation.

Schools and educational institutions qualify for a special educational membership as follows:

- Discounted combo specials (S1-3), which include printed African Wildlife & Environment and EnviroKids magazines according to the option subscribed to (see details below.)
- Newsletters and activity newsflashes
- School members also qualify for:
 - Use of the WESSA School Member logo
 - Learners, teachers and parents qualify for a reduced rate should they wish to become WESSA members

About our magazines

EnviroKids, WESSA's award-winning publication, has informed and inspired the young at heart of all ages for 40 years. Full of fantastic facts and information about how to live more sustainably and care for the Earth, each issue has a different theme and supports the National Curriculum. EnviroKids is a valuable, reusable educational resource for children, parents and teachers. The easy-to-read articles are ideal for second-language readers and school environmental projects. Recommended age range Grade R to lower secondary.

African Wildlife & Environment, WESSA's longstanding and much-loved in-house publication originally established in 1946, covers a wide range of environmental topics written by top writers in their respective fields as well as providing a platform to highlight the professional work of the organisation and the volunteer activities of members on the ground. Traditionally available in print format, we have recently launched a cost-saving, environmentally-friendly digital version.
