Invest in the sustainability of our country

For over 90 years, WESSA has worked to ensure environmental sustainability for present and future generations and continues to play a significant role in conservation, environmental education and skills development. We are a membership-based organisation and throughout South Africa, our members initiate environmental projects and organise educational events and activities in their local communities. WESSA business members provide invaluable support to these volunteer initiatives as well as being part of a vibrant environmental network, which operates at a grassroots level via our branches, affiliate members and friends groups.

WESSA Business membership consists of an annual membership fee and a contribution in support of WESSA's work. There are five levels from which to choose (see below) with the level determined by the amount of the contribution.

We also have a range of ways to customise your membership to cater for special requirements and projects. This includes group membership for staff and participants in projects as well as whatever assistance we can give towards community action and sustainability initiatives in your company.
